

JOINT STATEMENT ON TRANSFER OF VALUE/VALUE GAP

October 4, 2017

Dear Mr Voss,

We represent authors in all artistic fields as well as music, books and press publishers, film and music producers, broadcasting organisations, film distributors, cinema operators, football leagues and photo agencies, which are at the heart of the European creative sector.

First, may we congratulate you on your appointment as European Parliament Rapporteur on the Commission's proposed Directive on Copyright in the Digital Single Market. We look forward to working constructively with you on this file.

We very much appreciate your acknowledgement of the critical issue of the 'value gap/transfer of value' which is hampering the growth and potential of our sectors. This situation is caused by inconsistent application and unfaithful interpretation of the European copyright rules by some digital platforms. UUC platforms have become major distributors of creative works - all while refusing to negotiate fair copyright licenses, if at all, with the right holders.

We believe that the European Commission's proposal provides an effective basis for a fair and meaningful solution to this issue. Furthermore, its approach has to a great extent been supported by the CJEU in L'Oreal v eBay and confirmed most recently in Stichting Brein v Ziggo BV ('The Pirate Bay' case) cases.

Support for robustly addressing the Value Gap / Transfer of Value is reflected in an overwhelming majority of amendments in several of the relevant European Parliament committees, particularly in JURI, as well as the Opinions adopted in CULT and ITRE. We also fully support the amendments that you have tabled in LIBE and co-signed in JURI. We do not however support the IMCO Committee Opinion which would exacerbate rather than solve the Value Gap/Transfer of Value problem.

A meaningful legislative solution to remove the distortion undermining Europe's creative content market must clarify, in line with the CJEU case law, that platforms that store and provide access to copyright protected content uploaded (or displayed) by their users:

- undertake copyright relevant acts (i.e. communication to the public and as the case may be reproduction); and
- cannot benefit from the 'Safe Harbour' regime in Art. 14 of the E-Commerce Directive because they play an active role by, for instance, promoting such content or optimising the presentation of it.

Without clarification of the two points outlined above, there will be no solution for the producers and creators of European creative content.

The creative sectors seek a fair digital market, one in which the participants can operate with legal certainty and on a level playing field.

We look forward to working with you to ensure that the European Parliament's eventual position reflects the legal and economic realities of the market, stops free-riding by certain platforms and brings long-sought fairness for creators and creative industries.

We remain at your disposal for any complementary information you may require.

Yours sincerely,
