We're delighted to announce the first IMPF Online Song Camp, taking place June 24–25 ;

A two-day international songwriting experience designed to spark cross-border collaboration, creative networking, and connections between songwriters, producers, and publishers. This online camp is about building global relationships and laying the groundwork for future, more targeted joint projects. Participants will be grouped into small creative teams, working across time zones with peers from diverse backgrounds.

Key Info:

- Dates: June 24–25 (Online) from 1100 to 1700 CET (Brussels time)
- Application Deadline: May 30
- Participants: 5 teams of 3 (singers, songwriters, producers – globally selected)
- Genres: Pop, R&B, indie, commercial crossover
- Selection and supporting partners: an A&R team including IMPF publishers GL Music, PopArabia and Lusitanian Music Publishing

This is a learning-focused, exploratory camp, ideal for full-time high-level creators looking to build lasting relationships and future opportunities. It also lays the foundation for music publishers to have specific sync-focused or brief-led camps in the future. IMPF is planning to hold one online camp annually.

Applications are open now; participants must be available to work and create online during June 24 and 25 and must be assigned to an IMPF publisher.

Applicants should have a Laptop/PC, microphone; DAW or other means to record / produce; Stable internet access; Ability to transmit video and sound; A quiet room to work and communicate effectively
